Diana Garber of Intuitive Concepts Presents a Feng Shui Case Study of a Wellness Center

SUNBURY, OH, (June 4, 2015) – As the CEO and owner of Intuitive Concepts, Feng Shui Master, Diana Garber enjoys working with commercial clients to help them achieve success in their businesses. Although she works with various industries, she finds it especially rewarding to use her Feng Shui expertise to assist medical practitioners and their patients.

Master Garber is a Certified Practitioner Member of the Academy of Integrative Health and Medicine (AIHM) and was credentialed by The Ohio State University as a clinical instructor and Feng Shui practitioner. Her work on several medical centers in the US, and background as the first Feng Shui Master to speak at a medical convention, testify to her forte as an expert.

The case study of a wellness center will be conducted at the OSU Wexner Medical Center's Martha Morehouse Auditorium. Although the medical center being presented was in progress when Garber was hired, the owners approached her to perform a commercial consultation on their yet-to-be-built-out place of business.

After analyzing the land, parking lot, building, and center's team, Garber suggested design changes because she recognized the proposed redesign wouldn't create the type of results the physicians wanted for the practice. Her input affected the entire design/build process.

At the case study presentation, Garber will share details of her Feng Shui methodology showing how Feng Shui can affect the success, struggle, or even failure of a medical center. As she puts it, "Classic Feng Shui is more than just creating a harmonious environment. It is risk management."

This class is part of the Intuitive Concepts Feng Shui Academy schedule that is open to the public each month. Since Diana Garber believes in giving back to the community, the majority of classes are free to the public this year.
