AWARD NOMINATION

Diana Garber Nominated for the Jefferson Award

Diana Garber is honored to have been nominated for the prestigious Jefferson Award for Public Service. According to the foundation, this award points out “Who’s Who” amongst outstanding Americans; and on the local level, this award recognizes ordinary people who do extraordinary things in the community.

President and CEO of Intuitive Concepts, Diana Garber, has always been active in the community. Her volunteer activities include workshops for OSU’s educational programs; New Directions Career Center; health, healing, and advocacy groups; parent’s clubs; rotary clubs; women’s group; garden clubs; libraries; church groups; grandparents taking care of grandchildren; sororities; and career days at local schools. Diana is also a student mentor. Her energy is amazing and people drive for miles to hear her lectures.

She brings a unique perspective to her workshops and lectures with Classic Feng Shui. People experience not only a better overall sense of well being, but also physical improvements, increased safety, better relationships, and career direction. The workshops for OEA/NEA benefit children by identifying specific stresses in their learning environment. Through this, Diana is able to promote a more productive and dynamic setting. Diana Garber is honored to be among those nominated for this outstanding award.
