Diana Garber, President and Creative Environment Officer© of Intuitive Concepts, Inc., has joined an exclusive group of professionals called the GreenBiz Intelligence Panel. The goal is to help businesses incorporate profitable business practices that integrate social and environmental responsibility. The initiatives are for large and small businesses.

The panel includes businesses that provide professional services, consumer goods, technology, financial services, industrial goods, utilities, and more. The overall demographic of the Intelligence Panel includes 55% of small business owners with $10 million or less in gross annual revenue; 20% of businesses with a gross annual income over $1 billion; and of these, 75% are currently in the United States. For more information regarding the panel, please contact John Davies at (949) 872-0431.

Garber said, "Participation on this panel supports my company's goal; and that is to help save the world one business, one home, one person at a time. Social and environmental responsibility, as well as accountability, is something we all need to support." We did not inherit the Earth from our ancestors, we are borrowing it from our children.
