FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PRESIDENT OF INTUITIVE CONCEPTS RECEIVES 2009 WOMAN OF THE YEAR IN DESIGN AWARD

SUNBURY, OH, November 3, 2009 – Diana Garber, President and Creative Environment Officer (CEO) of Intuitive Concepts, was notified on August 28, 2009, that she was selected as Woman of the Year in Design for 2009. The host of 2010's The World Forum at England's Cambridge University, the American Biographical Institute, presented the award.

The institute's international board of research decided on Ms. Garber's nomination due to its global efforts of research on accomplished individuals. "It was a difficult decision to determine who would be among our women of the year for 2009, especially in the field of design, which is not only a reflection of personal creativity but is a field that can cover many professions – technology design, interior design, architecture, and fine arts," said J.M. Evans, President.

The requirements for selection include bold will and initiative, and great imagination that result in a visionary, memorable creation. The recipient's ingenuity must impact the lives of others through an artistic style. The Institute's 2009 Woman of the Year in Design award recognizes Garber as a leader in her field.
